

Our Cause
Who? What? Where?

We support the strategic missional development of faith-based organizations including mission entities, non-profits & ngos, schools, churches and church groups through the collection, analysis and visualization of information, onsite and online training, and online education programs.

Our data and it's visualization enables faith-based organizations across the globe to make decisions that enable them to accomplish their goals and mission.

Our training enables faith-based organizations to equip their staffs to expand their capacity to serve missionally, interculturally, and contextually.

Our education enables faith-based organizations to offer world-class missionally-focused certificates, certifications and degree programs to their staff and constituents.

Our Actions
What we do

We gather and warehouse data from a variety of sources, develop various analyses from the data, visualize the geospatial relationships within the data, apply the results to the issues that faith-based organizations face, and provide cutting-edge missional resources.

We provide professional education training programs, both on-site and online, that equip missional leaders indigenously, interculturally, and intentionally.

We provide an online university education that equips students with a biblically-based, missionally-driven, interculturally-focused, and contextually-informed perspective to serve in the mission of God in the world.

Our Impact
Changes for the better

Our analyses, training, and education have been used by faith-based organizations to increase their missional capacity by:

- developing customized programs that are more targeted to the needs of specific communities
- reallocating their organization's personnel and resources to address the specific needs of their communities
- providing alignment between personnel deployment and the sociocultural contexts of specific communities
- enlarging their capacity to serve their mission by enhancing the understanding and skills of their personnel through missional training and education
- partnering with Missional International to provide decision support systems
